John Howard Fickle - A Fireman in Fresno, CA

Floy Levitta(Fickle) Fessler is still living as of May 1989

Susan Emma Rutherford attended school at Live Oak in the little brick school house which still stands. At age 11 years, moved near Porterville, CA

Benjamin Fickle:

The earliest recollection of Benjamin Fickle is of having seen a team of horses fall down when he was only two years old. That happened back in Ohio. Where he was born December 10, 1832. A son of George and Margaret (Beckley) Fickle, native's respectively of Kentucky and Pennsylvania and descended respectively from German and from Irish ancestors. George Fickle fought for America in the War of 1812. Was in the battle of Tippecanoe at battle ground. His father Benjamin Fickle was Captain in the Revolutionary War and Colonel in the War of 1812, and he was 100 years of age at his death.

In 1853 young Fickle crossed the plains to California and stopped at Volcano, Amador County. He was of a party that came by way of the Sublett cut off, most of whom turned back to find grass for their stock. He and others pressed forward on foot and after a day's travel they came upon a train under the command of Clark, who was leading it to the Napa Valley. The young man found employment with the train at $18.00 a month and board. After the party had crossed the Green River, he met a man named Hogan, whom he accompanied to Volcano, helping with a drove of cattle until the animals ate too much grass and died as a consequence. Then he was employed near Amador and in the vicinity of Court House Rock. While he was there, three women went out to see the rock and were captured by Indians and were never seen again. Here he mined for a time at $3.00 per day until a passing stranger told him he was not being paid enough, and for a time he farmed in Nevada. Then he took up a homestead and the Tule River three miles below Porterville, to which he acquired the title and which he subsequently sold for $2200.00 taking his pay in cattle which perished on the Plains for want of water. Next he bought three hundred and 20 acres of railroad land near the site of Hanford, which he sold in two or three years for $1,000.00 and which is now well worth $200.00 an acre. He then took up a homestead in the Sierra Nevada Mountains in Fresno County consisting of three hundred and sixty acres, there he lived 19 years raised his family and he raised cattle, hogs and vegetables and fruit. He then traded it for 40 acres near Grosi, California and planted it to vineyard and orchard. Politically he was a Democrat. He affiliates with the Christian church. As a citizen he is public spirited helpful to all the interests of the community. Later he sold his 40 acres near Grosi and bought five acres of North Dinuba of vineyard. There is where he passed on December 1, 1922, at the age of 90 years as would of been had he lived until the 10th of the month.

Jerome F. Fickle married Beatrice Craft and sons Carl and Ray were born.

Alfred H. Fickle married Katie Burch and Edna, Fred and Alta were born.

George M. Fickle married Lottie Turner and a son Edward was born.

Benjamin Fickle:

The earliest recollection of Benjamin Fickle is of having seen a town of houses fall down when he was only two years old. That happened back in Ohio. Where he was born December 10, 1832. A son of George and Margaret (Beckley) Fickle, native's respectively of Kentucky and Pennsylvania and descended respectively from German and from Irish ancestors.
George Fickle fought for America in the War of 1812. Was in the battle of Tippecanoe at battle ground. His father Benjamin Fickle was Captain in the Revolutionary War and Colonel in the War of 1812, and he was 100 years of age at his death.

In 1853 young Fickle crossed the plains to California and stopped at Volcano, Amador County. He was of a party that came by way of the Sublett cut off, most of whom turned back to find grass for their stock.
He and others pressed forward on foot and after a day's travel they came upon a train under the command of Clark, who was leading it to the Napa Valley. The young man found employment with the train at $18.00 a month and board. After the party had crossed the Green River, he met a man named Hogan, whom he accompanied to Volcano, helping with a drove of cattle until the animals ate too much grass and died as a consequence. Then he was employed near Amador and in the vicinity of Court House Rock. While he was there, three women went out to see the rock and were captured by Indians and were never seen again. Here he mined for a time at $3.00 per day until a passing stranger told him he was not being paid enough, and for a time he farmed in Nevada. Then he took up a homestead and the Tule River three miles below Porterville, to which he acquired the title and which he subsequently sold for $2200.00 taking his pay in cattle which perished on the Plains for want of water.
Next he bought three hundred and 20 acres of railroad land near the site of Hanford, which he sold in two or three years for $1,000.00 and which is now well worth $200.00 an acre. He then took up a homestead in the Sierra Nevada Mountains in Fresno County consisting of three hundred and sixty acres, there he lived 19 years raised his family and he raised cattle, hogs and vegetables and fruit. He then traded it for 40 acres near Grosi, California and planted it to vineyard and orchard. Politically he was a Democrat. He affiliates with the Christian church. As a citizen he is public spirited helpful to all the interests of the community. Later he sold his 40 acres near Grosi and bought five acres of North Dinuba of vineyard. There is where he passed on December 1, 1922, at the age of 90 years as would of been had he lived until the 10th of the month.
